HYBRID BLENDED
LEARNING PLATFORM

Powered and supported by

Preamble

A hybrid blended learning platform is a type of educational platform that combines both traditional face-to-face classroom instruction and online learning activities. In this model, students attend classes both in-person and virtually, with the aim of maximizing the skills and the expected programme outcome.

The hybrid blended learning platform allows for greater flexibility and customization of learning, as students can choose to participate in online activities at their own pace and on their own schedule, while also benefiting from the social interaction and hands-on learning that comes with in-person classes.

Hybrid blended learning platforms can be very useful especially for students who have busy schedules, as they allow for more flexibility in terms of when and where learning takes place. Additionally, this model can be beneficial for teachers as well, as it allows them to use technology to enhance their teaching and provide more personalized learning experiences to their students.

ISBAT University's hybrid blended learning platform brings the students to a new experiential learning through Outcome Based Education (OBE) approach designed by experts in Academia/ Industry.
